Contract Must Get Ratification By Three Locals; Terms Not Told As 34-Day Strike Virtually Ends

By DON WRIGHT
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln's building trades unions and the Associated General Contractors of Nebraska early Friday morning reached a tentative agreement, virtually ending the 34-day strike.

Representatives of three local unions, seven contractors and a federal mediator, beginning their most recent session Wednesday, ended their bargaining at 12:15 a.m. Friday.

No terms of the agreement were announced, but according to Federal Mediator Edward Ries, the pact will be submitted for ratification to the three locals—carpenters, painters and laborers—within the next two or three days.

Both parties in the strike over wages, which began July 14, expressed satisfaction with the agreement.

Weekend Meetings

"The agreement will be submitted to the three unions at regular and special meetings this weekend," said Bernard Gradwohl, representative of all three locals.

"If the agreement is ratified, the men will be ready for work Monday," Gradwohl predicted. Virgil Haggard, Omaha attorney and representative for the contractors, said he was satisfied with the terms of the agreement and was "glad the meetings had ended in common accord."

The dispute, which had its beginning as early as April 1 when the union-contractor pact expired, centered around wage increase requests.

Union officials said the rising cost of living made it necessary to draw up a new contract. The unions asked for increases to wipe out what they called "inequities" between them and locals in similar midwestern cities.

Retrospective Pay
Also under discussion was the question of retrospective pay for the period since the contract ran out. All three unions were asking for at least a 15 cent wage boost.

Carpenters Local 1055 and Painters Local 18 had five-year contracts. Hodcarriers, Builders and Common Laborers Local 540 had a one-year contract, which was agreed upon last September.

Recently, individual independent contractors had signed with the three locals, meeting virtually all the union demands.

Although union officials are confident that the members will accept the terms, pickets will not be withdrawn from the strike-bound firms until official ratification, a union spokesman said.

Gordon C. Preble, Nebraska State Federation of Labor president who was meeting with the group, said optimistically, "It is an adequate settlement, and I'm sure it will be approved by the members."

1,800 Were Out
At the height of the walk-out, an estimated 1,800 workers were on strike or idle. The figure includes workers who were not striking against the AGC firms, but who refused to cross picket lines.

Based on an ordinary summer week's combined payroll of the seven strike-bound AGC firms, an estimated $250,000 has been lost in wages in Lincoln during the strike.

No estimate was available on how much the contractors have lost in the same period.

Confidence Shown
Although many workers affected by the strike are reported holding part-time jobs outside the city, union officials were confident that these men would be back on the job once the agreement is ratified.

Closed in the late hour session along with Haggard, Gradwohl and Ries were official representatives of the unions and contractors. They included, for the contractors, Phil Assenmacher, John Miller, Lee Westcott, Leslie Bowen, Dale Eaton and Orville Kingley.

Committees sitting in for the unions included: Carpenters, Arnold Boettcher, Fred Chapelle and Ed Lahri; Laborers, W. L. Parker and Ed Gudeker; Painters, Martin Voss, Robert Stokke, Frank Sheldon and Fred Yake.

Also working with the union group was Bob Johnston, president of the Lincoln Building Trades Council.

Badly-Battered Talmage Plans Enormous Cleanup Job; Damage High

TALMAGE, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—The town of Talmage, with literally every building and home showing the scars of a windstorm which came close to erasing the town from the map, was bracing for the cleanup job early Friday.

On schedule for the day was cleanup work by squads of citizens in an effort to clear streets and property of the debris left by winds of 100-125 miles per hour which struck Wednesday night.

Mayor Leonard Peterson said the cleanup squads would work out of the Chamber of Commerce under direction of the town board.

Help was to come from Nebraska City, where the Chamber of Commerce had arranged to send a number of men to their smaller neighbor to help out.

The mayor said everybody in town suffered from the storm. Individual damages would run from a low of $400 to a high of $10,000.

By Thursday night, a few telephone circuits had been opened to the town by stringing rubber covered wire along the ground in places where it was broken. Six telephone crews, with about 20 men, were working on the lines.

According to Dick Baker, Lincoln insurance firm adjuster who visited Talmage early Thursday, the damage centers in the business district which is approximately four blocks long. He "conservatively" estimates the damage to the city at $250,000.

All telephone and power lines came down during the course of the storm. The city had recently installed a new lighting system, said Frank Brehm, town board member, and it was completely demolished.

Six downtown buildings were destroyed. They include the Kreilmer Brothers feed building, the Edward Blake Jr. seed cleaning establishment, the James Gerking implement store workshop, two buildings owned by the Talmage Hatchery, and the Frank Drevell blacksmith shop, according to Brehm.

The east end of the upper story of Morton's Hardware was destroyed as was the northeast corner of the Charles Stephens coffee shop.

Most of the buildings in the Talmage downtown district are brick. Town officials blocked the main street Thursday because brick was still falling.

The Talmage Boy Scouts are guarding the road barriers as the city police officers are keeping an around-the-clock guard on demolished store buildings to prevent looting.

The new vocational agriculture building at the Talmage High School, a quonset structure only recently completed, was torn off its foundation and twisted into unrecognizable wreckage.

Winds were of such force that three boxcars at the town's railroad depot were turned over.

Although the adults in this town of approximately 400 persons were shaken by the thought of the rebuilding to be done, the children were having a field day. Town merchants were giving away their supplies of ice cream as the power failure halted refrigeration.

Brehm reported that the crop damage, especially to the corn crop, was extensive. Most farmers in the area report small buildings destroyed but little damage to homes.

Barns and most of the outbuildings were demolished at the Floyd Kennedy, Charley Gauchat, Roland Bischoff, and Fred Gittinger farms, said Brehm.

The storm was severe for a five mile radius around Talmage.

In Cook, nine miles west of Talmage, fire chief Charles Gerking reported the major damage there was confined to small tree limbs blown down.

An area two miles north of Cook to Syracuse and west to Talmage was battered by a hard hail storm, according to Gerking. No estimates have been made as to the amount of damage the corn in the area suffered, but "it's bad," added Gerking.

Cook received 2.25 inches of rain during the storm which started at 8:30 p.m.

The town of Brock escaped the brunt of the storm but farms about four miles out of town were badly damaged. Mrs. Joy Haneline, wife of the Brock mayor, told The Star.

Two miles southwest of the town, a tree uprooted by the wind blew through the side of the Henry Brogan home. Although the family was in the room at the time, no one was injured.

Outbuildings and barns at the Henry Tieman, Steve Colrick, Franklin Gilbert, William Adams, and Harry Haneline farms were flattened by the storm.

The barn on the Eddie Haglebach farm was blown down and killed 28 feeder pigs.

Grain, which was scattered when storage bins went down, is being salvaged and taken to the Brock elevator.

Two to three inches of rain was reported in Brock. The only damage inside the city limits were broken trees and limbs and minor damage to buildings.

In Lorton, the power lines remained intact, says Orval Hump, garage owner. Hump is supplying gasoline for Talmage as he has a hand generator for his pumps. The damage in Lorton was slight with plate glass windows broken and some roof damage. The corn is reckoned as a total loss northwest of Lorton due to the severe hail. Hump said that no injuries were reported in or around Lorton.

In Paul, the fringe of the Talmage storm area, two inches of rain was reported by Mrs. Harold Fox, wife of the depot agent. She added that the town and surrounding countryside received some hail but the damage was not extensive.

Highway No. 2 east of Dunbar was under water and open only to truck traffic Thursday.

The Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Company said that telephone communications to Otoe, which had considerable wind damage, had not been re-established last Thursday night.

The company also reported that 350 rural telephones were out in the Nebraska City area, mostly from trees that downed wires. Dunbar, Elmwood and Weeping Water telephone communications were also badly hit.

The first Chinese company tried to slip through the valley that divides Bunker Hill and Siberia Hill. They never reached their objective. Marine artillery caught them in the defile and the Chinese were routed, bloodily.

The second company raced directly at Bunker Hill. The Chinese reached the lower slope, but Marine machine guns and automatic weapons beat them back with heavy losses.

"We clobbered them," a Marine spokesman said after this fifth enemy assault since Tuesday was smashed.

Marines battled from their prefabricated timber bunkers. At longer range, Allied artillery kept up a steady tattoo of fire.

This morning's attack, on the hill, which lies within sight of the true talks site of Panmunjom, was the smallest of the five the Chinese have mounted since the Leathernecks seized it Tuesday morning.

The tot succumbed in an iron lung after her arrival Wednesday. She was brought here to take advantage of St. John's Hospital facilities and because the Cochrans had relatives in neighboring Sand Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Cochran rode in the ambulance with their daughter.

Homebuilders Seek To Buy Sherwood Park From Lincoln

For the purpose of buying the land, the Lincoln Homebuilders, Inc., have asked the city to put Sherwood Park up for public auction.

Ervin Peterson, corporation president, wrote the City Council that it was imperative the group have the plot of ground between Benton and Fremont at what would be $3rd if extended. Withouth the park, wrote Peterson, the corporation is unable to proceed with plans for development of a "low rental" housing project in the area.

City Attorney C. Russell Mattson said he could see nothing at this time that would stop the sale.

Peterson said the corporation would bid a "reasonable price" for the land at the auction.

Crops Get Cool Drink; Omaha Has Storm

The weatherman, apparently repentant for Wednesday night's destructive storms, behaved itself fairly well Thursday night.

Crops in parts of eastern Nebraska received a cooling drink Thursday evening.

Both Plattsmouth and Nebraska City were drenched by about an inch of rainfall between 8 and 10 p.m. Lincoln recorded .01 of an inch. Traces also were reported at Davey, Denton and Kramer.

However, a violent electrical storm occurred in Omaha Thursday night.

The wind in gusts reached 47 miles an hour and the Weather Bureau said that from 6:30 p.m. until midnight, it had recorded, unofficially, .85 of an inch of rain.

Weathermen said a series of storms seemed to have originated in the Omaha area and moved eastward all the way to Chicago.

More scattered showers and thunderstorms are due in the east and south Friday with cooler temperatures expected.

Although only a trace of precipitation was measured in downtown Lincoln, College View reported a "hard rain" which lasted about 10 minutes. But for the most part, the day was abnormally hot and muggy.

Lincolinites steamed and sweltered again as the temperature hovered around the 80 mark and the humidity climbed to a sticky 70 per cent of saturation. Normal humidity for August at noon is 49 per cent.

The high temperature in downtown Lincoln was 89 and at the airport 91, recorded at 1:28 p.m.

10th Street Viaduct Closed For Repair

The Tenth Street viaduct will be closed to traffic for at least four days while it is being resurfaced by the Burlington Railroad.

Traffic will be re-routed on New Hampshire, Avery Avenue and 14th during repair work.

An alternate route will be on Charleston west to the Cornhusker cut off connecting with West O.

Contract Must Get Ratification By Three Locals; Terms Not Told As 34-Day Strike Virtually Ends

Truman Not Yet Certain On Session

Also Covers Politics At News Conference

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Truman made it clear Thursday that he is still considering recalling Congress to deal with rising prices despite strong Democratic opposition to a special session.

The President was asked at his news conference whether his "plans have jelled" on calling the legislators back to strengthen the controls law. He replied that they have not—that no decision has been made.

Among others, Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.), Democratic vice presidential nominee, is of the opinion that a special session in the midst of a political campaign would accomplish little.

Takes Dig at Ike

Mr. Truman also told his news conference:

1. Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, GOP presidential nominee, will get top secret reports of the Central Intelligence Agency, but declined comment on Ike's rejection of his invitation to a White House briefing.

2. The President did not contemplate any private talk with the general. Mr. Truman said Ike could quote anything the President told him—that the general already had quoted quite a few things and gotten some of them garbled.

3. The White House is not considering at this time a new nominee as U. S. ambassador to the Vatican. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee declined to confirm Gen. Mark W. Clark, now Allied commander in the Far East, for the post.

4. Personally, Mr. Truman said, he is going to have a fine time when he leaves the White House next January. But he said he will maintain a keen interest in politics, and drew the parallel of an old fire horse which always wants to go to fires.

The President's weekly session with newsmen was top-heavy with political chit-chat.

Mr. Truman again refused to be pinned down on whether he will make one of his celebrated "whistle-stop" tours on behalf of the Democratic candidates. He said he will do whatever the Democratic National Committee wants him to do.

Wife Of Young GI Wants To Go With Him If He Is Deported

RIDGEWAY, S. C. (INS)—A young wife and mother faced with the possibility of losing her Korean husband by deportation sobbed Thursday night that she would go with him "to the end of the world—anywhere—if they would only let me."

Mrs. Thelma Ebner of Ridgeway said:

"It seems so strange as to be almost unbelievable—and so confused—we don't know what we'll do."

Her husband, Pfc Ernest Ebner, 27, is on his way home from Korea where he has been serving in the Army Signal Corps. His wife will be the usually happy GI homecoming, for he faces deportation from the United States unless he voluntarily leaves the country within 30 days of his discharge.

Entered On Visa

A letter from Ebner, received Wednesday, told of probably being discharged "about Sept. 19th," Mrs. Ebner said.

Ebner entered the U. S. on a three-month visa in 1948 to see his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ebner of Chicago. Later he applied for citizenship. But the U. S.

immigration service ruled that since he had overstayed his visa, he would have to leave the country and reapply for entry.

During the time appeals were pending on his citizenship application, Ebner was stationed at Ft. Belvoir, Va., where he met and married Thelma. They have a six-week-old daughter, Marie Ruth, over whom, Thelma said: "He is thrilled—and like any father, quite anxious to see for the first time."

"I don't know all the legal technicalities involved," she said, "but all I can do is hope with all my heart that he won't have to tell Marie Ruth and me 'Hello' and then 'Goodbye' again a month later."

She added:

"We don't even know whether they would let me go with him, or even where he would have to go. He came from behind the Iron Curtain, and couldn't go back there, after helping fight the Communists in Korea."

It seems funny that after serving in the Army and in Korea, he would be sent off to some other country—goodness knows where."

City Zoning Board Okays Laboratory For Norden Firm

Norden Laboratories was granted permission by the Lincoln Zoning Board of Appeals to erect and operate a vaccine laboratory west of 1st on the south side of Highway 2, as the board took action Thursday on nine zoning applications.

The board also granted permission to Sam Zolot to erect a 30-unit motel on the north side of Adams between 31st and 32nd.

An application by Dr. James E. M. Thomson to erect a medical clinic at 1705 B was referred to the City Council. It was recommended that the council amend the zoning ordinance to include medical clinics in a higher class than Apartment B.

The application of Eddie Gold and Harry K. Lydiek for Commercial A zoning between 47th and 48th on the north side of O was sent back to the council without recommendation. The vote was 2-2.

Other actions taken:

Granted Lucia Williams permission to operate a grocery store in her home at 2019 F.

Granted Hazel J. Trout permission to operate a child care center at 2801-03 No. 65th.

Granted Mrs. L. B. Loo permission for a child care center at 4445 So. 48th.

Granted the R. C. Shaw Advertising Co. permission to erect a sign on the south side of Highway 6 between 28th and 30th.

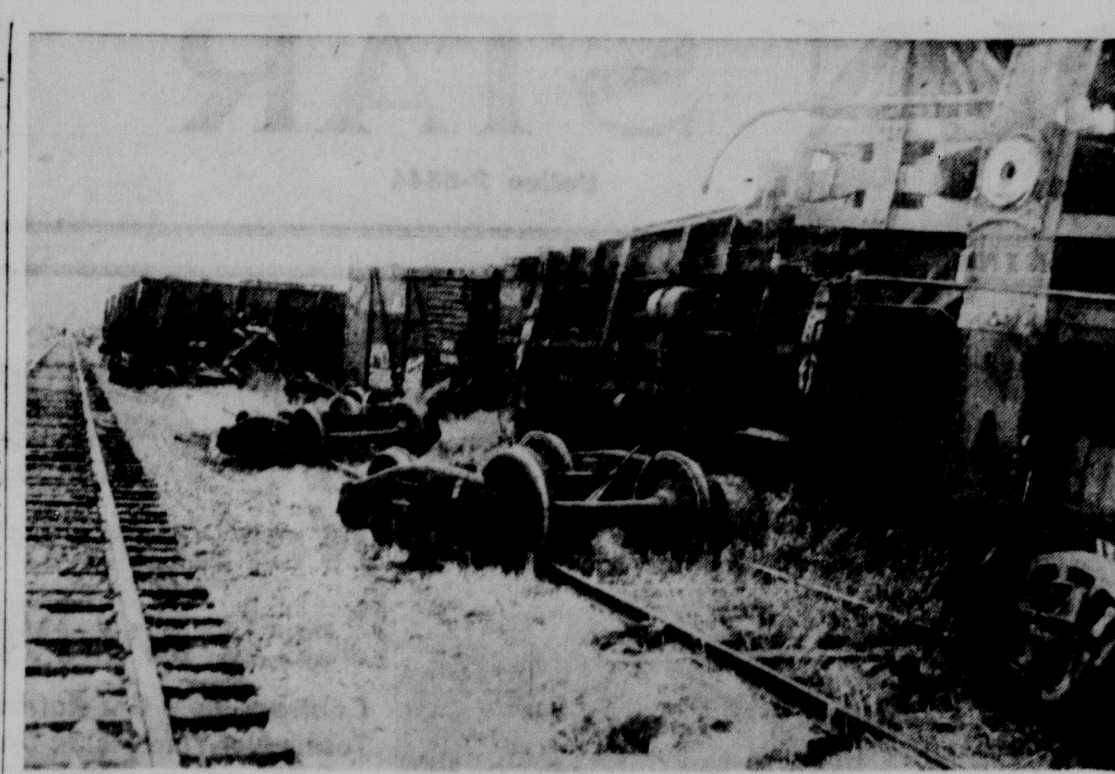

Denied Milan L. Evans permission for a change in lot facing at 1100 No. Cotton.

City Water Supply System Discussed

Future developments of Lincoln's water supply system were discussed at an informal meeting between members of the city's Water Advisory Board and representatives of Black & Veatch, consulting engineers from Kansas City, Mo.

Attending the meeting were Byron Dunn, Board chairman; Ted Sick, Board member, and N. T. Veatch, Ed Farmer and Col. J. F. Brown of the Kansas City firm.

The group made an informal tour of the city's water plant here in anticipation of the report due in 60 days on expansion plans. A final report with working plans will be presented in four months.

Three Gunmen Rob Ohio Bank Of $71,000

WARREN, O. (INS)—Three gunmen armed with a sawed-off shotgun and revolvers and wearing burlap bags over their heads Thursday held up a bank manager in Warren, O., and escaped with $71,000.

The stickup occurred as Charles Foley, 37, was transporting the money from the main office of the Union Savings and Trust Co. to the east side branch which he managed.

Foley said the bandits forced his car over to the curb on a street 100 yards from a main artery and two men got out of a grey car. One man pointed a sawed-off shotgun at him while the other had a pistol. The third man remained in the car.

The gunmen grabbed a bag containing the money and fled.

Warren police said one of the men smashed the window of Foley's car with the butt of his gun when the manager refused to unlock the door.

Courts Cannot Control Management, Disciplinary Action Of Pen, Beck Holds

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Courts in Nebraska can only follow provisions in the statutes and not add or detract from the laws passed by the Legislature, Attorney General C. S. Beck continued to hold in opinions requested of him regarding actions of judges not set forth in state law.

His latest opinion given Thursday to Warden Herbert Hann says that a District Court judge's instruction on how the warden was to administer the Prison was invalid.

The judge, in sentencing a burglar to four years in prison, included in the sentence this provision: "If the defendant is confined in solitary confinement for disciplinary purposes he shall be confined only in a cell approved by this court prior to confinement."

Beck said the provision was not valid and continued, "The courts are without authority to control or interfere with the management and disciplinary measures adopted by the Penitentiary officials."

The opinion further points out that the Constitution places with the Board of Control, supervising agency of the prison, full power to manage, control and govern the various institutions under it. He said that power is only subject to such limitations as might be established by the Legislature.

The attorney general's opinion concluded, "While we appreciate the humane sentiments which impelled the learned trial judge to include in the sentence the provision under discussion we are compelled by an examination of the authorities cited to conclude that the court had no authority to insert such a provision in the sentence and that it is . . . without validity."

It was pointed out that the State Supreme Court in denying a writ of habeas corpus by a prisoner named Dunn to gain relief from solitary confinement, adhered to the proposition that the courts have no power to interfere with the conduct of the Prison.

Office Of County Treasurer Pays For Itself By Collecting

The Lancaster County Treasurer's office pays for itself within the course of a year.

Although the County Commissioners authorized a $57,761 budget for Treasurer Carl E. Berg and his assistants in 1951, fees received by the county for collection of sanitary district, city, state, weed district, school, village and other taxes amounted to more than $90,000.

Guard Enters Last Phases Of Training

CAMP McCLOY, Wis. (AP)—In GI language the "eagles will lay the golden egg" Friday for the several thousand men of the Iowa-Nebraska 65th National Guard Division.

It will be pay day and nearly half-a-million in crisp bills will be handed Cornhusker and Hawk-eye guardsmen over the pay tables in what is scheduled to be one of the final formations of the division's two-week encampment.

Lancaster To Join Drive To Prevent Dynamite Mishaps

Lancaster County will take part in a "don't touch a blasting cap," campaign sponsored by the National Sheriff's Association and the Institute of Makers of Explosives, Sheriff Merle Karnop announced.

Blasting caps, used to set off dynamite charges, are shiny aluminum or copper tubes as big around as a pencil and of varying lengths. They may explode at the slightest shock. The resulting explosion spreads sharp bits of metal.

Guard Enters Last Phases Of Training

The leaner and finished Cornhuskers have finished one of the toughest tough weeks in the postwar history of the division.

They have earned the hard-earned accolade of Maj. Gen. Ray C. Fountain, their commander, who said he was "highly pleased with their excellent training record and enthusiasm."

Thursday the men put in their final ticks on the ranges and in the brush as far as 10 miles from the camp center. They came marching "home" to spit and polish retreat parades and awards.

Crack Outfit

B Battery, Wahoo, of the Cornhusker 568th Field Artillery Battalion won the coveted Col. Pros trophy for firing efficiency. The crack unit is commanded by Lt. Paul L. Holm, Lincoln.

A major award was pleasing to the stomach as well as the heart of Nebraskans.

The joint mess of C Company and Headquarters, First Battalion, 134th Infantry Regiment, won the salute of the entire division for having the best kitchen and chow in the entire division. To most GIs this is better than all the medals stacked together.

A special plaque was presented by Gen. Fountain.

'Fate Of Korea, Free World Same'—Rhee

Thousands Hear Views At Seoul

SEOUL (Friday) (P)—President Syngman Rhee said in his second inaugural address today that the Republic of Korea—symbol of the free world's fight against Communist aggression—cannot live divided and half occupied.

"Neither can the free world survive... if Communist imperialism is left to fatten upon imperialistic gains," said the aging but still politically potent Korean leader.

Rhee took the oath of office on the steps of the war-devastated capitol building. He was re-elected to another four-year term 10 days ago in Korea's first direct presidential election.

Rhee reminded his audience that the American and United Nations objectives in Korea were the same as his—to restore the country as a free, independent, united and democratic nation.

Gen. and Mrs. Mark Clark, other U. S. officials, Korean military and political leaders and thousands of invited guests were on hand for the ceremonies.

The city, now in ruins, was alive with polished military and the war-weary, ragged civilian populace.

This was the city's proudest hour since the dramatic September day in 1950, when Gen. Douglas MacArthur stood in the capitol and rejoiced with Rhee over the re-capture of Seoul after the Inchon invasion.

Rhee 77, first became president in 1948. He was named then by the National Assembly at the birth of the young republic.

Board Gets McGerr Charges; Sworn Statement Is Needed

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

George McGerr, former guard at the State Penitentiary, wrote to the Board of Control reiterating charges against Warden Herbert Hann which he had previously made to The Lincoln Star.

William Diers, board vice-chairman, said no official notice will be taken of the letter which carried no notarized oath that the charges were true. The letter offered no proof of the charges.

If McGerr brings before the board a sworn statement alleging mismanagement, the board will act, Diers continued.

Made In Letter

The statement was made in the letter that prison labor and materials had been used by an employee in building a home. Interviewed by Star reporters Hann denied that any penitentiary inmates had been used by the employee or materials taken from the prison.

He explained that the employee had given a few days employment to men after their discharge from the prison. Hann said that receipts

American Legion Advisory Board Is Named By Lorton

Mrs. Maryellen Lorton, new commander of Lincoln's American Legion Post 3, announced this week the appointment of a 12-man advisory board to aid her in building up the post.

Mrs. Lorton, a world War II veteran of the WAVES and the only woman post commander in the state, says that this move was taken not because she is a woman but that she thinks a board of this kind would be of great value to any commander.

The purpose of the board, composed mostly of world War I veterans, is to aid in furnishing ideas for recruiting new members and to stem the tide of falling membership. The post has lost about 6,000 members since 1946.

Last year, as first vice commander, Mrs. Lorton captained last year's successful membership drive, which brought the roll of Post 3 to 2,753 members. With the new board in operation, Mrs. Lorton says she hopes for even better results in 1953.

Veep 'Expects' To Retire After Inauguration Day

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (P)—Vice President Alben Barkley said Thursday he "expects" to retire from public life at the expiration of his term next Jan. 20.

Toward the conclusion of a Democratic Day speech at the Illinois State Fair, Barkley said that "on the 20th of January, I expect to retire from office, from a public life that I have enjoyed for 40 years."

Peterson's Travels

A contemporary suggests that Walter Raecke was indulging in a little demagoguery when he referred to Gov. Val Peterson's extensive traveling in recent years. A man simply cannot serve Nebraska as governor and hole up in the executive office (not the mansion) for a secluded, cloistered life.

But, the contemporary concludes, whether Gov. Peterson has traveled too much is beside the point—Raecke's opponent is Crosby, not Peterson. The same writer would be well-advised, along with a lot of other American newspapers, if they kept that in mind when discussing Gov. Stevenson's candidacy for the presidency. Mr. Stevenson is the Democratic candidate for President—not Truman.

What Walter Raecke was pointing to in his indirect reference to Gov. Peterson's travels was the fact that Mr. Raecke seems to feel that a man honored by his fellow Nebraskans ought to be appreciative enough to stay put without rolling his eyes around to discover where he might land next politically. Political ambition held within reason not only is understandable but possibly good. It hasn't exactly been a state secret throughout much of his third term, possibly a portion of his second term, that Gov. Peterson was occupied nearly as much with a budding candidacy for the United States Senate as he was with the job he held. He was in Dakota campaigning for Eisenhower, out in California talking to the Young Republicans—hither and yon. He was all over Nebraska talking to handfuls of people or crowds and always, it seemed, he was campaigning. Gov. Peterson has become known as "the traveling governor" in Nebraska.

And Mr. Raecke was undertaking to tell Nebraskans as a candidate for governor he wasn't thinking of a seat in the United States Senate or some other political job.

Is that demagoguery?

Nebraska Gleanings

The news columns reported that State Engineer Harold Aitken had filed a claim for a thousand-dollar-a-year salary increase voted to the office by the 1951 legislature.

Mr. Aitken seeks to draw $8,500 a year instead of the present salary of $7,500 annually. All he does is supervise the construction and maintenance of a state highway system embracing thousands of miles of road—along with a lot of other casual details that go with the office. It is Mr. Aitken's misfortune to be working for the state of Nebraska instead of the city of Lincoln. The Lincoln City Council is more appreciative—infinite more appreciative—of some of its employees—notably Director Dave Erickson, an engineer, in charge of the engineering phases of Lincoln's city government.

Mr. Erickson's salary was hoisted recently to $12,000 a year when the City Council—facing the alternative of letting him accept an offer from Philadelphia, or adjusting the salary to the director's satisfaction—fell over itself in making sure that an "indispensable man" remained in the city's employ. Mr. Erickson looks after Lincoln's city water until something goes wrong, as it did earlier in the summer, and then he calls in an engineering firm from Kansas City for counsel and advice—a release from torment which State Engineer Harold Aitken does not enjoy when something goes wrong with the highways. Mr. Erickson also looks after the city light plant, keeps an eye on the city parks, the streets, the sewers—storm and otherwise—and incidentally seems to do a pretty fair job of looking after himself.

Mr. Erickson draws more money than the chief justice and more than an associate justice of the state supreme court. He draws more money than the head of any code department in the state house—more money than any constitutional officer of the state of Nebraska. In terms of compensation for public service, Mr. Erickson is quite a guy.

There isn't much question but that the state of Nebraska has been niggardly in paying those who serve it faithfully. There can't be much argument today that sound public policy suggests that those who hold public positions should be well compensated. Mr. Erickson has a deputy, an outstanding engineer, capable and competent, who actually assumes a great deal of the responsibility for the city engineer's office and who, with the last raise given him, will receive within $600 of the annual salary presently paid to the state highway engineer.

Lincoln's City Council has struck its bargain with Mr. Erickson—and that is that. It pays him adequately to do most of the thinking for the council members—whether the problem is one of policy or administration—and we assume that he does. Perhaps the council reasons that $12,000 a year is not too much to pay for the thinking that is done at the City Hall. Well, Mr. Erickson seems to do the thinking and gets paid reasonably generously by comparison with the salary levels generally prevailing in various branches of public service on the state level.

These Seven Years

Seven years ago—August 14—the war with Japan came to a close. In those hours of Japan's unconditional surrender, the American people gave full-throated voice to their relief for escape from the grim, bloody struggle.

There are some bright spots in the world today to offset the shadows. One of the brighter is the seemingly genuine transformation that has come over the Japanese people.

They have thrown off the yoke of military rule. They no longer dream of world domination. They have abandoned the objectives of an expanding empire, enslaving Asia and with Asia under them, moving to other continents. Much of this transformation must be credited to the Japanese people themselves. Without their agreement and their full assistance, it would have been impossible to have reversed the tides in Japan. The Japanese surrender brought an end to the most effective program of aggression in the Orient.

About the most tragic development that can take place within a nation is the development of a policy of aggression. That is what gave such a strange ring to the recent statement by John Foster Dulles, who actually negotiated the Japanese peace treaty. Mr. Dulles seemed to say that instead of a policy of containment of Communism, meeting aggression wherever aggression occurred, American foreign policy should be revised to initiate aggression.

If that takes place, we may get a full-blown war.

Below The Mourning Surface

A massive tomb consuming nearly 10,000 square yards of floor space is being prepared for the body of Eva Peron, to find its final resting place under an intersection in downtown Buenos Aires. To finance the project, every salaried worker in Argentina will be ordered to contribute one day's pay toward the mausoleum fund.

The fantastic display of grief in Argentina over the death of Evita, self-appointed leader and protector of the "descamisados"—the shirtless ones—cannot hide the desperate plight of the Peron regime. Argentina has been brought to the brink of bankruptcy by the activities of its government, and from the administration's standpoint the mourning serves an excellent political purpose. The people are thinking about Evita now, and they have less time to think about food shortages and trade deficits which has Argentina tottering.

Peron is attempting to perpetuate the influence of his blonde wife even after her death. Despite the many shortcomings of that ambitious woman, it cannot be denied that she had a strong hold on the poorer classes of Argentina, a hold which has brought a genuine display of affection on the part of thousands of her people who now pay homage to her. Peron obviously hopes that when the economic crisis comes—as it is certain to come—he will be able to ride out the wave of resentment against an administration which has brought Argentina, only a few years ago one of the wealthy nations of the world, to the brink of economic disaster. We find the ironic situation of a ruthless "strong man," who came to power by brute force and bloodshed, attempting to cling to that power by identifying himself more closely with the memory of a frail woman.

The grief cannot go on forever. When the time comes for the people of Argentina to bring their thoughts back to every-day matters, Juan Peron, dictator, may find his power gone.

Vivien Is Back Again

Once again that never-say-die representative of the shrill voice and derisive denunciation, Miss Vivien Kellems, is back in the news. She is seeking the Senate seat left vacant by the recent death of Sen. Brian McMahon.

The one-woman crusade led by Miss Kellems against the federal withholding tax brought her into the headlines several years ago, and she has popped up here, cropped out there ever since with causes of about equal validity. She is at present one of the leaders of a organization known as the "Liberty Belles," which doesn't seem to be getting anywhere with its program for a return to the golden era of McKinley.

Unable to break into the regular Connecticut Republican party, which shuns her, she plans to run on an "Independent Republican" ticket. She says "thousands of people" desire her election. It would be well if she finds a place on the ballot this November, if only to test that claim.

Me-Tooism?

"They (the Republicans) should admit that the voice is the general's voice," but the hands are the hands of Thomas."—Gov. Paul Dever of Massachusetts, at Democratic National Convention, July 21, 1952.

"From now on out, the voice will be that of Stevenson but the hand will be that of Harry Truman."—Sen. Richard Nixon of California, Republican vice presidential candidate, Aug. 13, 1952.

Aid For Air-Babies

If there has been any doubt that we are in the air age, it should be ended with an announcement that LaGuardia Field in New York is closing its busy luncheonette. It will be converted into a nursery for travelers under 2, complete with machine which dispenses fresh diapers. The air age catches up with all ages.

DREW PEARSON

Ike Discovers Politics No Game For Novices

WASHINGTON—Close friends of Gen. Eisenhower report that he is now almost getting accustomed to American politics. It is no secret that at first he was most unhappy.

Even during the Chicago convention, Ike griped privately at the things he was required to do. Once he confided to a friend: "If I'd known it was going to be like this I'd never have got into it. The people who came to see me in Paris didn't tell me about all these things. They didn't tell me about all the backslapping and the silly questions."

"What I need," Ike continued, "is a good chief of staff." The general has been a good sport, however, and despite an occasional private grumble, has settled down for the long, tough campaign that he knows will begin right after Labor Day.

He is not, however, sticking his neck out on any important decisions until after consulting his "general staff."

Surrounded by some of the best professional GOP politicians in the business, Eisenhower is leaning heavily on their advice. Politics he has concluded, is no game for amateurs.

Reds Renew Drive In Americas

While the U. S. is engrossed in domestic politics, some significant and different kind of politics is taking place below the Rio Grande. The Kremlin is sending its toughest ambassador and skilled saboteur to direct a new drive to win over Latin America.

He is Vasily Y. Yerofeev, who replaces a career Russian diplomat, Nicholas Gorenkin, as ambassador to Uruguay. His appointment marks a new and important shift in Kremlin policy.

The fact that Ambassador Yerofeev is being stationed in Uruguay is due to that country's being one of only four south-of-the-border republics which still retain formal relations with the Soviet Union. The others are Argentina, Mexico and Guatemala. Brazil, Chile, Cuba and Venezuela have severed diplomatic ties with Moscow.

A few years ago, Mexico and Cuba were the western hemisphere's most active centers of Communist propaganda. Control of organized labor in both countries was in the hands of Reds or faithful party-liners, while the Comies always had strategically placed friends inside the Cuban and Mexican governments.

Moreover, local Comies could count on help from the large staffs and fat budgets of the Soviet embassies in Havana and Mexico City. But, as the cold war settled in, and especially after fighting started in Korea, all the Russian money that was available couldn't keep the Red cause from losing Mexican and Cuban sympathizers by the thousands.

When the Batista regime took the first opportunity to force a break with Moscow, Russian embassy personnel in Havana, including cooks, chauffeurs and gardeners, had dwindled to a total of 14, against 49 in 1948.

During that same period, Mexico, although maintaining outwardly correct relations with the Kremlin, was getting progressively tougher in her official attitude toward domestic Reds. Furthermore, President Miguel Aleman's government has dealt out some pointed social snubs to Russian diplomats in the last two years.

Real barometer of the drastic wane of Communist influence in Mexico came with last month's general elections, when labor-

Truman Will Go All Out On Stevenson's Behalf

WASHINGTON—The division of labor between President Truman and Gov. Adlai Stevenson in the coming campaign was shown in the course of a discussion of the plans for the coming Labor Day holiday. The President, proposing to accept the invitation of Wisconsin labor leaders to speak in Milwaukee on that day, was in high good humor.

"You can't," he quipped, "keep me from having some fun in this campaign that's coming up." There's nothing Truman releases more than a slam-bang political speech. In preliminary draft now is a Labor Day talk that will go all out in attacking "McCarthyism" and the harm done in the attempt to carry out a foreign policy for containing Communism.

Whether it will directly attack Sen. Joe McCarthy in his home state on the eve of the September primary is not yet certain. The senator around whom fierce controversy has raged is still recuperating at a Wisconsin resort from a major operation. Consideration is being given to the possibility that a direct attack on the President might create sympathy.

While the President is talking about "McCarthyism" and foreign policy, as now planned Stevenson will be delivering one of the most important speeches of his campaign in Detroit. The present intention is to deal with labor relations, the touchy business of the Taft-Hartley Act and what to do about it.

Stevenson will be speaking to a labor audience. On the platform will be Sen. Blair Moody, whose re-election depends on a mass turnout of labor vote. But if Stevenson goes all out for labor, he will seem to prove the Republican charge that he is a captive of the "labor bosses."

In statements before the convention the Democratic nominee said he favored revision of Taft-Hartley. The Democratic platform calls for outright repeal. Challenged on the difference between his views and the platform since his nomination, Stevenson has said it was a difference of form rather than substance. Whether changed by amendment or by repeal with a substitute law the result would be the same, in Stevenson's postconvention outlook.

The handicap of the Eisenhower campaign is too many professional pullers in too many different directions. The Stevenson handicap is too many amateurs still

Whiskers, Whoppers, Corn-Eatin' Choppers

By MONA B. PARKER
Crockery—or the illusion of it—was coveting over midwestern skies as elsewhere in the nation. . . . Max Bixby, in The Hardy Herald: "It seems there has always been confusion. We see flying saucers and Ezekiel saw a wheel a way up in the middle of the sky."

H. C. King, in The Clay County News: "More and more science is coming to believe there may be such things. I've never seen one myself, but like the purple cow ditty, I'd rather see than be one! I haven't a saucer-like shape!"

Mrs. Evelyn Vogt, in The West Point Republican: "I had switched from food to calories and everything was going along alright until all those stories about the lady down at Blair. If I should lose 160 pounds, I wouldn't be here at all! Then I'd probably be just a flying saucer floating around in space. Goodness knows I don't want one of those jet pilots chasing me—or do I?"

The Polk Progress was out-bunyaning Bunyan in its "Mutters by Book" this week. Under satirical discussion was the size of mosquitoes to be found in that immediate vicinity.

"Martin Jones caught them picking his sweet corn (might have been someone's cow). Ben Peterson, thinking he mislaid his pipe, found a mosquito walking down a corn row smoking same and Leo Wurtz had a hard time chasing one away from his cash register. It insisted on taking a nickel for a cup of coffee."

South Sioux City, through its Editor Bill Lee, doesn't see what Blair has to brag about. Mr. Lee wonders if anybody down there has seen Paul Wagner lately. (The former Dakota County Star editor, now budget director at the state-house, has recently shucked 47 of his 230 pounds.)

"Of course," Mr. Lee adds thoughtfully, "there are two sides to our argument with Blair. Mrs. Fraley went on her diet willingly and under advice of a physician. "Mr. Wagner just lost an election!"

Ashtland had a "meanest man" candidate briefly in its midst. A transient there gave a child a nickel to be allowed to ride the youngster's bicycle, and when apprehended later was heading toward Omaha on the vehicle.

York had a vagabond visitor, too, but theirs provided his own means of transportation. Jack Ratcliff has been traveling 12 1/2 years in his modern version of the covered wagon. He has been in every state, covering about 15 miles a day, and with him go four mules, three goats, one dog, a few chickens and various other species of the animal world. The modern touch may be noted in the glassed-in observation car in the rear where a five-month-old donkey observes the road ahead.

The Holdrege Citizen is of the opinion that there's more profit these days in bunnies than beef, and here is how it figures. . . .

Four rabbit does weighing 10 to 12 pounds each will produce more meat a year, than a 1,000-pound steer. A good cow will wean one 400-pound calf a year, but the four does will yield 480 pounds of liver-rabbit. However, mentions The Citizen, "We've never seen a movie titled, 'Rabbit Rustlers of Lone Creek.'"

Headline of The Week (Plattsburgh Journal): "Union Soldier Receives Badge."

How that Civil War does linger on and on!

Riding in Fairbury's Old Settlers parade were two former Jefferson Countians who had come more than 600 miles just for the celebration. They were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ackley of Chicago. . . .

Newman Grove's "Whisker Club" was attracting growing attention but there was one farmer, at least—probably others—who presented the appearance of a member through no particular effort of his own. He had simply been too busy in the field to have time to attend to the daily ritual of chin-scrapping. . . .

And Sappy County could find nothing better to battle about than sunflowers. . . .

The Springfield Monitor told of one of The Kansas roses that measured 10 feet, 7 inches in height in the yard of Mrs. Lulu Krulis. But Tuesday Jack Latham topped that. In his garden was one now 11 feet, 2 inches to the blossom, and he had measured only the "short ones as our stepladder and yardstick will not reach the taller ones."

Sunflowers, whiskers, or whatever, a Nebraskan's thoughts this time of year always come back to food. . . .

Mrs. Kenneth McDonald, in The Sherman County Times: "One thing this family especially enjoys is eating those first, luscious, yellow roasting ears just oozing with melted butter and sprinkled with salt!"

Edwards P. Curran, in The Greeley Citizen: "We have yet to discover an American who will refuse to reach for a second ear of corn on the cob" . . . W. W. Williams, in The Chester Herald: "While feed is going south to the drought areas, almost as many truckloads of watermelons are going north. If one of either is going to drop off close to us, we'd a little rather it would be a watermelon."

The People Speak

Political Decisions

Pierre, S. D.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The 1952 campaign will be waged hot and heavy. There will be a great many low blows delivered and it will be up to the people as referee to discount them or count them against the party throwing them. We will have to score up the telling points and realize that it is the people who, after all, make the final decision. This year we must not neglect our duty. Not only must we go to the polls and vote but we must make sure that all our friends and neighbors do likewise. The decision made by the people in this particularly grave period in our history must be a majority decision.

It must be made clear and decisive.

It would appear in their choice of leadership that the Republicans have a little the better of it. Eisenhower, while but a novice in politics, does have the qualities for leadership. He does have a record of leadership accomplishments. He is a man of the people. It was with the strong support of the people that the reactionary forces of the Old Guard Republicans were defeated in their choice of candidate and so it goes without saying that should Eisenhower win the election this fall, it will be a victory for the people.

The old school political dictionary defines politics as "The art of ruling the people by fooling them." Slogans like "We never had it so good," and "Don't let them take it away," and "Do you want to vote against prosperity?" will fool a great many casual observers.

We can and do give full credit for a great many social gains to the Democrats since they have been in authority. But if the cost of these social gains is going to mean moral corruption and economic bankruptcy, a war-torn world with bloodshed and a garisoned economy with strife and strikes creating one emergency after another, it is time we take note of the debit side of the ledger. Like inflation and taxes absorb increased earnings, moral corruption absorbs all social and economic values. We could soon lose any favorable balance we now have if present trends are allowed long to continue.

Adlai Stevenson has this handicap and he has the handicap of a party too long in power. As the campaign progresses, we can begin to judge these two candidates on their own individual merits. It would be nice to believe that at long last we might elect a man bigger than any political party, a man who could command unity and bi-partisan support on these world and national political decisions.

CIO Asks Its Six Million Members To Vote For Stevenson

Calls Demo Labor View Outstanding

WASHINGTON (INS) — The CIO Thursday asked its six million members to vote for the Democratic ticket of Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Sen. John Sparkman in November.

The 46-member Executive Board of the labor organization unanimously approved a public statement throwing its support to the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket on grounds it would carry on the policies of President Truman and the late President Roosevelt.

The action was taken in an all-day session of the group, held for the purpose of making plans for an intensive campaign among CIO members aimed at getting out the maximum vote of the CIO unions for the Democratic ticket.

The Executive Board said: "It is our belief that the election of Stevenson and Sparkman, and of a congressional majority ready and willing to carry out the policies enunciated in the Democratic party platform, will insure more years of government responsive to the needs of the people."

"Under a Stevenson administration based upon such a platform, we can look forward to an unflinching continuation of the best traditions and ideals of the New Deal and the Fair Deal."

The Executive Board said the Democratic party platform is framed in the Roosevelt-Truman tradition, while the Republican document reveals its essential character "in its fulsome praise of the sorry record of the Republican 80th Congress."

The board contended that Stevenson has compiled a record showing "resourceful, imaginative, humanitarian leadership" and that Gen. Dwight Eisenhower is under the thumb of the GOP "old guard."

The CIO said that the Democratic platform, while it does not incorporate all CIO recommendations, "is nevertheless, as a whole, the most liberal, forward-looking and realistic ever adopted by any political party."

The CIO leaders particularly praised the Democratic platform for its call for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor Law, its civil rights stand and its recommendation for curbing Senate filibusters.

The statement did not mention

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Vice President Barkley, speaking at the Democrats' day at the Illinois State Fair Thursday, stoutly defended the party's record for the past 20 years.

Decentralized Power Asked By Stevenson

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (INS) — Adlai Stevenson Thursday called on the states to become "dikes" against the "tidal drift" of power to Washington and kicked off his Democratic presidential campaign with a raking assault of Republican leaders past and present.

In a short Illinois State Fair speech billed as an introduction of Vice President Barkley, Stevenson defined his philosophy of good government and answered charges that he is a "captive candidate."

A crowd estimated between 10,000 and 12,000 heard the Democratic presidential candidate. Reasserting his belief in states problems as possible, Stevenson declared:

"We talk about and deplore incessantly the increasing centralization of power over our lives in Washington. But that tidal drift toward the capital will go on and on unless those necessary functions of government which don't have to be performed in Washington are performed, at the state or local level."

Stevenson also referred to Nixon's charges that the Illinois governor is a "helpless captive" of city bosses, President Truman and left-wing elements by saying: "I had no idea I was so popular, and I hope I can bear this multiple courtship and captivity with becoming modesty. . . . It's not too uncomfortable to be captured by most everybody except the Republican old guard."

Bradley Admits Notification Mix-Up Due To His Error

WASHINGTON (INS) — Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of staff, said Thursday night President Truman asked him to get in touch with Gen. Dwight Eisenhower one week ago to furnish the Republican presidential candidate with intelligence information.

Bradley added that because of his "unfamiliarity with political matters" it never occurred to him that "timing of the notification might be an issue."

In a formal statement issued at the Pentagon, Bradley said that if he had considered "timing," he would have "gotten in touch with Gen. Gen. Eisenhower immediately after my conversation with the President."

A briefing session with Gov. Stevenson, Democratic candidate for President, took place last Tuesday and some Republicans have charged that the invitation to the GOP candidate came out of Stevenson-Truman talks.

Bradley said: "Last Thursday, the President advised me of his wish that Gen. Eisenhower be furnished this information (intelligence) and asked me to get in touch with him."

The President said at his news conference Thursday that Eisenhower was informed by the Defense Department about 10 days ago that the administration was willing to supply the general with secret intelligence reports. Eisenhower's headquarters later denied receiving any such notice or having one in its files.

Bradley continued: "We discussed the fact that Gen. Eisenhower recently had been on active duty and was acquainted with many of the matters involved. This indicated there was no immediate need to take this up with Gen. Eisenhower."

Scotts Bluff Ranks Ninth In Spud Output

Box Butte Rates 88th In Nation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Scotts Bluff County, Neb., ranked ninth in the nation for production of potatoes in 1950, the Census Bureau reported Thursday.

Box Butte County ranked 88th and Morrill County ranked 77th in the nation. They were the only three Nebraska counties to rank among the first 100 potato-producing counties of the nation. These 100 counties produced about two-thirds of the nation's potatoes.

Scotts Bluff ranked 11th in the nation in potato acreage, Box Butte County was 78th and Morrill 90th.

As usual, Aroostook County, Me., always the premier potato producing county, ranked first in both acreage and production with 127,129 acres and a yield of 60,311,788 bushels or 474 bushels per acre.

Acreage and production figures for the three Nebraska counties were not given in the Census Bureau report.

York Council Will Assume Operation Of Water Company

YORK, Neb. (AP)—The York City Council has decided to take over operation of the York Water Co., Oct. 1.

City voters approved purchase of the firm to be operated as a municipal utility and a court of condemnation set the price at $244,000. The city will issue $260,000 in bonds to pay for the plant.

Mayor Ivan Fleming said that sometime before Oct. 1 the city must decide what type of management the water company will have.

AMONG THE CASUALTIES—Injured by the tornadic winds was this milk cow with a bloodied horn and face on the Hookstra farm. Sightseers were kept away from the damaged farmstead by state safety patrolmen. (Star Photo.)

Acting Governor Hides In Cave When Winds Hit

LI. Gov. Charles Warner admitted that he took refuge in a cave on his farm near Waverly when tornadoes were wreaking havoc in the vicinity Wednesday night.

The acting governor said it was evident that there was considerable wind in his vicinity and his refuge in the cave was warranted by the fact that a 60x40 foot barn on his farm was knocked off its foundation and several smaller buildings were de-roofed.

Gov. Warner said that a hurried check of his corn fields showed no appreciable damage from hail which accompanied the wind.

When Gov. Warner said he didn't think the barn would be placed back on its foundation, he was jokingly asked why he did not put a new foundation under the barn in its new position.

"I can't do it—it leans," he answered.

2 Youngsters Die From Polio

By the Associated Press

Polio has claimed the lives of two more Nebraskans. The latest victims:

Alan Wayne Spelts, 4, Shelton. James Edward Melroy, 9, Decatur.

The Spelts death marked the fourth 1952 polio fatality in Grand Island as compared to one death by this time last year.

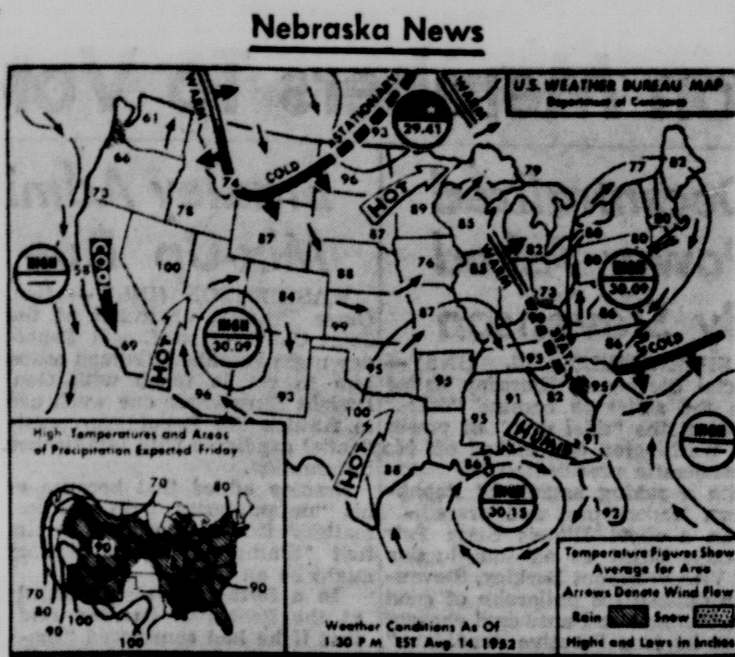

Alan, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Spelts Jr. of Shelton, died in the St. Francis Hospital polio ward in Grand Island Thursday. There are now 26 patients in the ward. A total of 52 cases have been treated at the hospital this year, compared with 24 last year.

4th Omaha Death

The Decatur boy, son of Mrs. Nellie Melroy of Decatur died Wednesday night at Children's Memorial Hospital in Omaha where he had been since July 21. He had been in an iron lung since his admittance. His was the fourth polio death in Omaha this year.

Children's Hospital reported two new admissions Thursday, Bonnie Jean Lukowski, 6, Fort Crook, Neb., and Richard Lee Ellermeier, 5½, Scribner. Children's Hospital now has 70 patients under treatment.

Douglas County Hospital Thursday listed 37 patients under treatment. New admissions included Gordon Riggs, 20, of 1035 North Garfield, Fremont, and Lorene Banover, 26, Hamilton, O., who has been visiting in Fremont. She was listed as a possible polio case.

SHOWERS—Showers are expected Friday over the eastern portion of the nation from the Atlantic to the Mississippi Valley, except for New England which will be generally fair. Showers and thunderstorms also are predicted for the northern Plains, the Rockies and the Cascade Mountains. Warm weather will continue in the east and slightly cooler conditions are expected in the northern Plains and the upper Mississippi Valley. (AP Wirephoto Map Thursday Night.)

Tornado Areas Involved In Cleanup Operations

Four Yutan Farmsteads Wiped Out

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Farmers and townspeople in the Ashland and Yutan areas were involved Thursday in the disheartening task of cleaning away the debris left by Wednesday's destructive tornado which left six persons injured and completely obliterating four farms in that vicinity.

No estimates of damage were yet available but the figure will surely go into the higher thousands. More than a dozen farms in the area suffered loss of crops, cattle and buildings.

Injured in the Yutan area were Mr. and Mrs. George Kuhr, who were both hospitalized at Wahoo with head and face injuries; 5-year-old Frank Velinsky, who suffered two broken arms; and Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Witte, both of whom received minor face and head cuts and bruises.

Owen Recovering

Resting well at Bryan Memorial Hospital in Lincoln is Virgil Owen of Ashland who was trapped in his falling barn at the height of the storm. He suffered a dislocated shoulder and head and face cuts.

Not even one single board was left to mark the farms of four Yutan farmers. Levelled to the ground were the farms belonging to the Wittes, Kuhrs, Delmar Prinz and Charles Velinsky. The Harry Parmenter farm in the same area, just south of Yutan, also suffered major damages.

Witte lost 15 head of cattle, some 20 hogs, all his barns and his house. Thirteen cows and a bull were lost by Prinz besides his house and barns.

According to reports, Witte told his neighbors later, "I saw it getting black so I took my family to the basement. Suddenly, there was such a roar it deafened us. I remember seeing a cow thrown into the basement with us while it was still kicking."

3 Cows In Basement

In the cleanup afterwards, three cows were found buried in the debris in Witte's basement.

DAVID CITY HOME DEMOLISHED—Wednesday night's tornado came from the northwest in a path about 200 feet wide to demolish the Matt Birkel farm five miles north of David City. The uncovered foundation lies between the light pole on the right

Nearer Ashland, the twisting wind tore off the roofs of barns, completely destroyed some barns and killed several head of cattle on the Virgil Owen farm. Also hard hit in that area were the Ed Ballou and Otis Ballou Jr., farms.

To the east of Ashland, 20 box cars, weighing an average of 22 tons each, were lifted from a track, thrown some 20 feet to one side and back across the tracks again.

D. G. Hansen, road foreman of engines for the Burlington, said damage to the cars would amount to about $50 each plus the cost of labor in clearing the wreck away. In Ashland itself, power and telephone workmen worked throughout the day in restoring normal utility service to the community. Many streets were blocked with huge trees upended by the twister.

The roof was blown completely off three apartments above an implement store in Ashland.

Six Farmsteads Hit

DAVID CITY—Three farms were completely demolished and three others badly damaged in an area six miles northeast of here. Neighbors and relatives arrived at the scene Thursday to aid in cleanup work.

The Matt Birkel, Jesse Hookstra and Gaylord Burkholder farmsteads were leveled except for the house on the Hookstra farm which was badly damaged.

Outbuildings and the house on the Jim Svoboda farm were damaged. According to John Knott, David City Red Cross chairman, Svoboda also lost some pigs, but the number had not been determined.

Tot Killed By Father's Car

OMAHA (INS)—A 13-month-old Sappy County boy was killed Thursday afternoon when he was crushed under the wheels of his father's car.

The victim was Ronald Lawrence Dauner, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Dauner, South Omaha.

The accident reportedly occurred as the child was playing on the driveway. Dauner, a farmer, said he did not know his son was nearby.

The parents rushed the boy to an Omaha hospital but he was dead on arrival.

Nebraska Safety Patrol headquarters in Lincoln said the death probably would not be counted in the state traffic fatality toll since the accident happened on private property.

Mystery Auto Is Sought In Walla Murder

LA CROSSE, Wis.—(Lincoln Star Special)—Police here were hoping Thursday night that a mystery automobile—if and when they find it—might put them closer to solving the murder of a Seward, Neb., national guardsman.

Authorities are now "pretty sure" that Cpl. Frank R. Walla, 42, was murdered for the money on his person. His body was found in a LaCrosse alley early Wednesday.

Although officers reported "no new developments" they appeared to pin some hope on finding a car which a woman said she saw near the alley about 1 a.m.

The woman told police she saw a man leap from a moving car about 1 a.m. Several other men then dashed from the car and chased the first man up the street, she said. She furnished authorities with a description of the car.

Check Camp Autos

Working in co-operation with civilian authorities, Criminal Investigation Department officers at Camp McCoy, where Walla was at summer camp, were checking cars on the camp against the description given by the woman.

The Seward man's body was found about a block from where the woman said she saw the car. His empty billfold was lying in a yard about a half-block from the body.

Police said some of Walla's buddies told them he had about $25 on his person about 9 p.m.

Officers have questioned many persons, most of them fellow guardsmen, but haven't identified any of them as suspects.

A post-mortem examination Wednesday showed that death was caused by a cerebral hemorrhage. Walla had been struck on the temple.

Specimens were sent to the state crime laboratory at Madison for toxicological examination. Walla's clothing, which showed no signs of a struggle, were also sent to the crime lab.

Police revised one conclusion they had drawn. They had first thought Walla's body had been dumped in the alley after a 3 a.m. light rain because his clothing was dry. They now said the rain was no more than a heavy dew and the body could have been lying outside without the clothing being wet.

Some investigators wondered if it was mere coincidence that Walla's body was found near the highway to Camp McCoy. The billfold was found a half-block farther down the highway, and the episode seen by a woman a short distance beyond that, on the same highway.

The alley where the body was found is near LaCrosse's business district.

Since Wednesday night, guardsmen on pass from Camp McCoy have been restricted to a 15 mile radius from the camp.

Crosby Points Need Of Watershed Plan

SYRACUSE, N. B.—(Lincoln Star Special)—"We dare not lose our soil," Robert Crosby of North Platte, Republican candidate for governor, said Thursday night at a meeting of the Little Nemaha Watershed Association.

"In the long run," he said, "if we are to conquer the terror of floods we must retain the water in the upper tributaries where it falls.

"A sound approach is through a watershed district, its creation to depend upon the consent of the people in the watershed and its control to be firmly fixed in the hands of those local people."

"We have learned from the experiences of second rate countries, whose impoverishment can usually be traced to neglect of their soil and natural resources," Crosby said.

Police revised one conclusion they had drawn. They had first thought Walla's body had been dumped in the alley after a 3 a.m. light rain because his clothing was dry. They now said the rain was no more than a heavy dew and the body could have been lying outside without the clothing being wet.

Some investigators wondered if it was mere coincidence that Walla's body was found near the highway to Camp McCoy. The billfold was found a half-block farther down the highway, and the episode seen by a woman a short distance beyond that, on the same highway.

Bruno Residents Will Honor Dr. Jelinek For His Service

BRUNO, Neb. (AP)—A community celebration will be held here Aug. 24 in honor of Dr. John A. Jelinek, who has practiced medicine in the community for 50 years.

Dr. Jelinek was born in a sod house near Dodge in Cuming County May 6, 1876, a year after his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jelinek, moved here from Czechoslovakia.

After attending rural school, Dodge High School, normal schools at Lincoln, Shenandoah, Ia., and Fremont, he taught school for two years and then entered Creighton University Medical School in Omaha.

All of his 50 years of practice have been in Bruno.

Twister Was Seventh In State This Year

Wednesday night's tornado, which hit in the southeast area was the seventh twister to strike Nebraska this year, according to W. R. Stevens, chief meteorologist at the Lincoln Weather Bureau.

Nebraskans can expect a tornado any time during the spring and summer months and they probably won't receive any advance warning that destruction is on its way. "A tornado is just one of those things we can never be sure about," Stevens said. "It hits only a small area and the conditions are the same as cause severe thunderstorms."

Technically, a tornado is caused by a rapid decrease in temperature combined with a sharp increase in altitude which sets up strong convective currents, according to the meteorologist. "And the more moisture there is in the air, the more likely a tornado will hit," Stevens added.

People in the central Mississippi valley, the spot the twisters visit most frequently, can relax during chilly months. The chief meteorologist says that "tornadoes are very unlikely in the winter."

If there's a bright spot in this year's picture, it's the fact that, according to incomplete reports from the state, July went by without bringing a tornado with it. "Something that doesn't happen too often in Nebraska," said Stevens.

The tornado report for Nebraska for 1952 is as follows:

- April 29—Northeast of Beaver City.
- May 8—South of Potter.
- May 13—Northern Cheyenne County.
- May 26—Cheyenne County.
- June 15—O'Neill.
- June 26—East of Crete.
- August 13—Ashland-Richland-David City, Talmage area.

Owen Believes Cow May Have Saved His Life

An Ashland farmer, Virgil Owen, gave thanks Thursday from his hospital bed to a now dead cow that he said "may have saved my life."

Owen was trapped in his barn Wednesday night when a tornado swept through his farm and felled the barn on top of him. "The lights and power had just gone off," he said, "and I was milking my cow when all of the sudden I felt the barn shaking."

Started To Run
"I didn't have time to think. I started to run toward the east wall and the building also fell to the east."

"My head was caught between the timber and rubble and I began to wonder how much pressure I was going to be able to stand. I didn't even know where my left arm was. (Owen's left shoulder was dislocated.)

"The first thing I thought about was my family. I hollered for help and my family came and answered me but they couldn't dig me out."

Cow Died
"The cow that fell on my legs probably saved my life. She was all broken up inside and died. She took the beating that I would have gotten otherwise."

But with his numb arm and cuts and bruises on the head which all but closed his eyes, Owen thinks he is "still lucky."

"I'm lucky I came out of it alive," he said. "I lost my barns and some cattle but those things will heal themselves."

Owen lives a mile north of Ashland. He has four children, two of whom were home Wednesday night. None of the rest of family was injured.

Pioneer Test Pilot Falls To His Death

BURROWSVILLE, Va. (AP)—One of the pioneers of faster-than-sound flight plummeted to his death Thursday from an exploding B-45 jet bomber.

He was test pilot Herbert H. Hoover, a native of Knoxville, Tenn., and the first man to fly the Bell X-1, an experimental prototype of present-day supersonic aircraft.

The four-jet bomber exploded over this Southeastern Virginia community and Hoover and a companion bailed out.

News Analyst Sullivan Dies

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—Funeral services for Mark Sullivan, dean of America's newspaper columnists, who died of a heart attack here, will be held Saturday. Sullivan would have been 78 on Sept. 10.

A working newspaperman, author and political analyst for 64 years, Sullivan was stricken at his farm home in nearby Avondale. He continued to write his twice-a-week column for the New York Herald-Tribune and other newspapers almost to the moment of his death.

British Foreign Minister Eden Weds While Churchill Beams

LONDON (INS)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden married for the second time Thursday, taking for his bride Clarissa Spencer-Churchill, niece of the prime minister.

The ceremony was hailed by London throngs but bitterly criticized by an Anglo-Catholic newspaper.

Mobs of Londoners were drawn to the Caxton Hall Registrar's office, where Winston Churchill acted as best man for the 55-year-old Eden, who exchanged vows with the pretty, 32-year-old blonde.

wedding was as indiscreet as the American Democratic Party nomination of a divorced man for the presidency. The paper tied in with its criticism of Eden, divorced in 1950, Illinois Governor Adlai Stevenson, who also is a divorced man.

'Big Search' For Wandering Boy, 3½, Ends Happily Here

Johnny Branlund is quite an adventurer—for a little fellow.

The three and one half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Branlund of Hillsboro, Ore., was home again Thursday night, safe and sound and apparently wondering what all the excitement is about.

Johnny wandered away from the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tisthammer, at 1319 So. 25th late Thursday morning in search of his grandfather so he could go to his grandfather's warehouse.

Seven policemen were pressed into action. About 50 neighborhood kids joined in the search, scouring the area on their bicycles on foot.

Five hours later, an unperturbed Johnny was found by Mr. and Mrs. Cook in front of their home at 1335 Garfield. Mrs. Cook noticed the boy because he was a stranger in the neighborhood and presumed he may have been lost.

Thursday night, Johnny was very calm when interviewed by a Star reporter.

Asked what he saw on his trip, Johnny said, "I saw a lot of puppy dogs." But he added, none were like his dog, Queeny, because "Queeny has a tail."

Both the parents and grandparents of little Johnny joined in

Gene Hoyt Fined $50 On Larceny Charge

Gene Edward Hoyt of 1327 O was fined $50 and costs in Municipal Court Thursday after pleading guilty to a petit larceny charge of stealing a billfold containing $28.

Hoyt took the billfold from Carl Duhrkopf, also of 1327 O, while the man was asleep, the court was told.

Tecumseh Mother Stricken With Polio Gives Birth To Twins

A 26-year-old Tecumseh mother stricken with polio Tuesday and her twins born Thursday are all reported in "fine" condition at Lincoln General Hospital.

Mrs. Martin Schultz was brought to the Lincoln hospital Tuesday with spinal polio. The babies, a boy and a girl, were placed in incubators after the premature birth. They weighed about four pounds each.

A mother and her son were both reported as Lincoln polio victims Thursday. Mrs. Edward Fulton, 26, 6721 Platte and her son,

Tax Returns Inspected

DENVER (INS)—The federal grand jury investigating crime in Colorado Thursday inspected income tax returns—reportedly of the state's top gamblers, John F. Healy, deputy director of the State Revenue Department, showed the returns to the panel in 20 minutes of testimony.

Larry, 9, are both in "good" condition at Lincoln General Hospital.

Other new cases are: Mrs. Edna Louise Wink, 33, 2828 F. "fairly good."

Mrs. Delmar Watermier, 2220 Q, "condition not yet determined."

The four cases bring the county total to 67, compared with 38 cases reported during the entire year of 1951.

A Most Successful Plan

WE DID a little roll-calling this evening—just to see if everyone were present or accounted for at the moment—Found a number of “heres” which let us know that some of the citizenry had returned from summer holidays—and we heard news of others, so all in all our plan was fairly successful—but homecomers do not monopolize the news entirely—there are guests to chatter about—and we have a party or so—some for brides—another one a farewell courtesy—and so it goes. But since time, tide and newspaper deadlines wait for no man—or woman, we’d best be getting about our business.

WE MENTIONED a farewell courtesy, and we’re sure it will be of special interest to a number of people because it involves Mr. and Mrs. J. LeRoy Welsh of Omaha who leave within a few days to visit Francis P. Matthews, the United States ambassador to Ireland—We hear that Mr. and Mrs. Welsh also will travel on the continent, and in Scotland and England—but the high spot is the stay in Ireland where they will be the guests of the former Omahan.

Anyway, Mr. and Mrs. Welsh came to Lincoln Wednesday evening to attend a small dinner party for which Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Orme were host and hostess at their home.

MEANT to tell you yesterday about the courtesy for Miss Joan Carveth, whose marriage to Larry McKee will take place on August 27. On Tuesday evening Miss Barbara Welsh complimented the bride-elect when she entertained at a kitchen implement shower at her home.

AND HOSTESS-ing in Miss Carveth’s honor today will be Mrs.

Phil Sidles who has invited a small group of guests for luncheon at the University club. The soon-to-be bride will be presented with a hostess gift.

TOOK A LOOK at the week-end calendar and found that Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hadley have made reservations for a no host dinner on Saturday evening at the University club. The group will be composed of the members of a dinner club who will spend the after-dinner hours with bridge.

SOMEONE TOLD us that Mrs. John Brownlee was leaving today for Minnesota to accompany her young daughter, Martha, home from Camp Holiday—And we were told that one of these days before too long, Mrs. Brownlee, Martha, John—Moe, for short—and Elizabeth, will be leaving for Colorado Springs to join Major Brownlee who is stationed there.

UNDERSTAND that Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Thompson are home again after a three weeks holiday at Sunset Beach, Glenwood, Minn. While in Minnesota Mr. and Mrs. Thompson spent a week-end at the guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Martin at their summer home on Star Island, Cass Lake. Also guests of Mr. and Mrs. Martin at the time were Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Martin and Mr.

and Mrs. Smith, we hear, returned several days ago, but the Thompsons lingered at Glenwood until now.

OUR HOMECOMERS list also reminds us that Miss Joyce Johnson and Miss Joyce Folmer have returned from Yellowstone Park, where they spent the summer vacation—Both Miss Johnson and Miss Folmer will be juniors this year at the University of Nebraska where they are members of Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

OPENED the guest book to jot down the names of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Burnett of Wichita, Kan., who arrived on Thursday to spend the week-end at the guests of their granddaughter, Mrs. James B. Harley and Mr. Harley. Accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Burnett from Wichita, and also spend the week-end here were Mrs. Harley’s uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Paul McCullough, and their son, John.

MORE NEWS involving Mr. and Mrs. Harley has to do with Mrs. Harley’s mother, Mrs. Carl Burnett, who returned to her home in Colorado Springs earlier this week.

HEAR THAT Mrs. John C. Whitten and Mrs. Donald W. Miller left at the crack of dawn on Thursday to drive to Minnesota where they will spend a few days as the guests of Mrs.

Frank Boehmer at Hackensack. Mrs. Miller will return to Lincoln from Hackensack, but Mrs. Whitten will go from there to Alexandria, Lake Hommedieu, where she will be the guest of Mrs. Ernest Guenzel, at the Guenzel summer home.

AND LEAVING on Saturday, so someone told us, will be Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Smith (Caroline Roberts) who have planned a three weeks vacation in the Black Hills.

JUST LEARNED that Mr. and Mrs. George G. Swingle are driving to O’Neill today and on Saturday morning will attend the wedding of Miss Nancy Froelich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Joseph Froelich of O’Neill, to John Robert Barigar, which will take place at St. Patrick’s Church.

HEARD, TOO, that Mr. and Mrs. Fred Colby have gone up to the Lake-of-the-Woods region where they are spending some time as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Trombla — The Tromblas, by the way, are building a new summer home there.

IN TOWN from Albany, N.Y., are Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Nichols who will remain until about October 1, as the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Pester—

INCIDENTALLY—Mr. and Mrs. Pester are spending this week in Granby, Colo., but will be returning home on Sunday.

EXPECTED TO ARRIVE this week end is Mrs. Amos Thorburg of Hollywood, Cal., who will spend a few weeks as the house guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sutherland.

Madam Chairman

YOUR SCHEDULE FOR TODAY—

MORNING
League of Women Voters, 10 o’clock, neighborhood coffee at the home of Mrs. Kermit Johnson, 1917 South Twenty-seventh Street.
Lincoln Woman’s club public affairs committee, 10 o’clock, meeting at the home of Mrs. Nathan Grossman, 2300 B Street.

Celebrates Birthday

In celebration of his third birthday anniversary, Billy Willander, son of Dr. and Mrs. D. R. Willander, will entertain sixteen guests at an outdoor supper at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Luikhart on Saturday, August 16. In addition to the younger generation Billy also will include in his guest list his paternal grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Willander of Chicago, who will arrive Friday evening.

LWC Group Will Meet

The members of the ways and means committee of the Lincoln Woman’s Club, the department leaders and the ways and means committee chairmen, will attend a meeting to be held at 10 o’clock Friday morning at the home of Mrs. Nathan Grossman. Mrs. George Meehling, president of the Lincoln Woman’s Club, has been invited to attend the morning session.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss projects to which the club groups may lend their effort and to which they may contribute financially.

A Three-Step Process

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS
Why should you be so fastidious in choosing wardrobe colors, as all fashionists always caution? Why not just take the easy way and wear the darks and neutrals which eliminate the matching and accessorizing problems that ensue when you choose discriminating colors?

Or, like a gypsy, why not just combine colors to suit your fancy?

Here’s why—In so doing, you lose three potent sources of personal glorification. 1. Colors that are the season’s newest favorites display your fashion sensitivity and attract admirable attention and interest. 2. Colors that complement (fulfill and round out) your personality subtly dramatize you. 3. Colors that complement (flatter and become) your personal color type make a greater beauty of you.

Selection by Elimination
How does one choose colors that accomplish all three goals? How can they be found without spending a treasury of money and time?

Here’s how—Before adding to your wardrobe at any time, always glance through your newspaper’s fashion reports and note the shades that are newsworthy, especially at the beginning of the season. A full report on fall colors will appear in this column later this week. That takes care of Point No. 1.

Point No. 2 is the easiest to determine. Of the colors fashion favors, peg those that appeal to you. Psychological tests have proved that those you choose generally are your personality complements. Then, unless your clothes budget is unlimited, discard colors that clash so that you can simplify your matching problems in accessories and coats.

Final Choice
Now we come to the third and most important factor. Of the colors that you have selected, single out only those hues that are especially becoming to your color type. Remember that it is always wiser to wear a color that is out of step with your fashion or your own personality than one that is unflattering or unbecoming. This three-step process of selection by elimination will result in your attainment of a wardrobe that will be characterized by all the beauty and charm secrets that color holds!

“FIGURED FOR YOU”
Specially prepared by figure and fashion experts EXCLUSIVELY for readers of this column. FIGURED FOR YOU, gives detailed instructions and illustrates how to select foundation garments that provide comeliness, control and helpful comfort for your individual type of figure. ## Introducing—The Walter C. McConkles

Since this energetic family from Des Moines spends much of its time in the kitchen, it seems only natural to snap them either concocting something or wiping the inevitable dishes that result! The McConkles are not true Hawkeyes, for they lived in Omaha before moving to Iowa, and Mr. McConkle is now an electrical engineer in Lincoln.

McConkle used to sew all the children’s clothes, but now they do their own. They love flowers, and hope next summer to get a garden in early. When autumn comes and the children are settled in school, she hopes to investigate classes in textile and figurine painting.

With such alert and inquisitive children, it is indeed a challenge to keep one step ahead of Lois, Sharon, and seven-year-old Janyce! The two younger girls will attend Prescott, while Sharon goes over to Irving this year into the eighth grade.

Sharon sews all her own cotton dresses and playclothes, in addition to her gastronomical accomplishments; her musical ability was applied, at her request, to the flute which she plays beautifully. As her mother wishes to do, Sherry has already done a little textile painting and in that “spare time” she reads a great deal!

Lois and Janyce might be twins, for they not only look and act similar, but also are inseparable! Last year in school Lois divided one of her story books into a three-act play, which her teacher permitted her to produce on the stage, complete with costumes and scenery. The precocity and achievements of these youngsters might be summed up in Mrs. McConkle’s story that the family simply cannot watch television together, for the children are down on the floor with the dictionary and encyclopedia, waiting for a new word to be uttered, so that they can get mommy down to help look up its meaning!

Mrs. McConkle formerly lived in Bolivar, Mo., from where she moved to Omaha and met her husband. She is an interior decorator by nature, but feels she must wait awhile before tackling their home so that she can see what would be the best becoming... a smart decision but one few of us consider! An accomplished seamstress, Mrs.

LWC Departments Ready For Coming Season

“Music expresses feeling and thought without language; it was below and before speech; and it is above and beyond all words.”

And there you have the beauty of music—in a phrase that has been adopted as a theme for the MUSIC DEPARTMENT of the Lincoln Woman’s club. Not only does this department devote many long hours to the study of music and rehearsals, but it also presents a program annually for the entire membership of the Lincoln Woman’s club.

Beginning on Tuesday, September 9, this year, the music department will hold fifteen rehearsal meetings including the last one on March 17, and in addition there will be extra features, such as the Ways and Means party to be held in April; the Christmas program to be given for the General Club on December 8, and the department’s own Christmas party on December 16 at the home of the club’s president, Mrs. George W. Meehling.

The efficient leader of the music department is Mrs. C. K. Bowman who is assisted by Mrs. Ralph W. Jackson. Mrs. Fred Stevens is the department instructor, and the accompanist is Miss Helen Newton. Mrs. E. H. Kirby serves as the department secretary-treasurer.

As usual the music department will meet at 1:30 o’clock each Tuesday at the Lincoln city library.

Serving as chairman of the various department committees this year are Miss Phyllis Straub and Mrs. J. J. Hadley, who head the reception committee; Mrs. Ralph W. Jackson, program; Mrs. Leslie C. Loomis and Mrs. Vincent Blinde, social; Mrs. Neal Copple, table decorations; Mrs. L. T. Shirk and Mrs. M. E. Rolfmeyer, ways and means; Miss Roberta Jones and Mrs. J. S. Logan, telephone, and public affairs, Mrs. F. A. Maca.

THE MENTAL HYGIENE department of the Lincoln Woman’s Club has a most interesting program planned for the forthcoming year, and we can think of no better way to get off to a good start than the “Cheer and Chatter” coffee which launches the season for the Mental Hygiene group on Tuesday, October 14.

Miss Minnie M. Miller is leader of this department which aids and abets the improvement of mental facilities—such as is suggested by its selection of the theme—

“Do your own thinking; never be diverted from what you think is right.”

Absly assisting the members of the Mental Hygiene department in the matter of thought based on facts and background will be the instructor, Donald O. Clifton, instructor in history and principles of education at the University of Nebraska. The eight lecture topics to be presented by Mr. Clifton during the year include: “Mirror for Men,” “Mirror for Me,” “I See Through Myself,” “Am I Going My Way?” “I See Myself Through,” “My Communication,” “I Invest in Life,” “Mirror, Mirror On the Wall.” Small wonder that the Mental Hygiene department is exceedingly popular.

Assisting Miss Miller in the role of leadership is Mrs. Leo L. Lewellen, and Mrs. Roy D. Kile serves the group as secretary-treasurer.

The committee chairmen for the department, which will hold ten meetings during the year, each of them at 10 o’clock on Tuesdays at the Y.W.C.A., includes Mrs. W. A. Fink and Mrs. Fred H. Strasser, reception; Mrs. R. H. Cummins and Mrs. E. H. Kirby, social; Mrs. J. M. Hastings and Mrs. L. W. Crouse, ways and means; Mrs. Blanche J. Fulton and Mrs. C. E. DeBord, telephone, and public affairs, Mrs. Laura M. Eaton.

MISS MINNIE M. MILLER

In addition to the “Cheer and Chatter” coffee which opens the season for this group, there is to be one other social function—a spring luncheon on April 14.

We think it interesting to know that the program of lectures for the year were planned by the officers of the department and Mr. Clifton.

We find, as we go from one department of the Lincoln Woman’s club to another, that a general education is offered to one who is fortunate enough to belong to all of the groups — It is quite amazing, also, how closely knit the various departments are in the matter of study—the mental Hygiene group that promotes thinking—the music group that delves into the arts—the Literature and Drama department, of which we shall talk now—which involves both thinking and art—

MRS. C. K. BOWMAN

The Literature and Drama Department also will hold ten meetings during the ensuing year, and each is to be held on Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o’clock, at the Y.W.C.A.

As a guide to the meaning of the department the theme “Books are the legacies that a great mind leaves to mankind,” has been chosen, and certainly the leader, Miss Helena Sieck, and the other officers of the department, Miss Allegra Wilkins, assistant leader, and Mrs. B. L. Teleen, secretary-treasurer, have planned a delightful program for the year.

Although the first meeting of this department will be held on September 25, the first social event is not until October 23 when there is to be a 9:30 o’clock morning coffee followed by bridge—and a display of Indian dolls at 1:30 o’clock. On

Miss Jacqueline Reinick Announces Bridal Party

Miss Jacqueline Joan Reinick, daughter of Mrs. Jack Reinick and the late Mr. Reinick, is announcing the members of her bridal party.

She has chosen Miss Ruth R. Lauk of San Clements, Calif., as her matron of honor and the maid of honor will be Miss Danna Joan Sitzman of Huntington Park, Calif. The bridesmaids will be Miss Charlotte Hervet, Miss Delores Wertz and Miss Betty Reinick, and the junior bridesmaid will be Linda Schuldeis. Miss Sharon Marie

Heckel and Miss Becky Hergenreder will be the flower girls and Alan Con Floth will serve as ring bearer

Timothy Darnauer and Stephen Sommers will light the candles and Oscar Paul Weidler of Rochester, Minn., will serve his brother as best man. Lloyd Ang of Valparaiso, Ron Cutler of Elsie, Kurt Sienknecht of Kansas City, Mo., and Bob Reitz will seat the guests.

Miss Reinick will be married at 8 o’clock Friday evening, August 22 at Westminster Presbyterian Church to Mark E. Weidler, son of the Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Weidler of Nashua, Ia.

State's Farmers Carried Over $9 Million Insurance On Wheat

Nebraska farmers carried a liability of $9,346,440 on the 1952 wheat crop with the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, L. Ralph Robertson, state director, said.

There were 6,380 farmers in 27 counties having federal "all risk" wheat insurance.

Robertson said indemnities estimated at $400,000 are being paid to the insured growers on the crop.

Most of the indemnities are being paid in Kimball, Cheyenne and Deuel Counties where damage from hail was severe in extensive areas.

The indemnities go to growers whose insured crop fell short of the money invested to produce it.

For 1953, Hayes County is being added to the list of eligible counties.

Governor Formally Heir To Fortune Asked Poll Senators Not Convinced It's On Road Session Worth 'Good Name'

WITH CANADIAN TROOPS, Korea (INS)—Canadian Lt. Col. Edward M. D. McNaughton, heir to a quarter million dollar fortune, says he has not decided whether the legacy is worth the price of giving up a "perfectly good name."

He added, however, that Leslie "is a respected name."

Col. McNaughton, commander of the First Royal Canadian Horse Artillery Regiment in Korea, also said he wants to learn how much of the legacy would be taken up by taxes before he makes his decision about accepting it.

Under the terms of the will of his late aunt, Mrs. James Norman Stuart Leslie of Kingston, Ont., he will receive the fortune if he agrees to change his name to Leslie.

The 31-year-old, pipe smoking artillery officer said he is putting off final decision until he has a chance to confer with his attorney upon his return to Canada. He said:

"I haven't the least idea of what I'm going to do. I'm comfortably off as it is, and I don't particularly need the money."

Young GOP Campaign Committee Is Named Ackerman Joins Midland Faculty

FREMONT, Neb. (AP)—Dr. J. Emory Ackerman, Los Angeles, an authority on economic practices of Protestant churches, will join the Midland College faculty Sept. 1.

Dr. Paul W. Dieckman, Midland president, said Rev. Ackerman would teach Christianity and philosophy. He will replace Rev. Gerald B. Strickler, who has been granted a one-year sabbatical leave to complete work for his doctor of theology degree.

Pedersen To Active Duty

Donald M. Pedersen, 2701 South, a June graduate of the University of Nebraska and recently commissioned officer in the Air Force reserves, left Thursday to report for active duty and pilot training at the base at Kingston, N. C. He will attend the All-Star Football in Chicago Friday with friends.

All-Star Game Kicks Off 1952 Grid Season Tonight

L.A. Rams Favored Over Star-Studded Collegians

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
CHICAGO (AP)—The favored Los Angeles Rams, champions of the National Football League, catapult against one of the best-balanced collegiate squads assembled in the 19th annual All-Star football game at Soldier Field Friday.

A throng of 90,000 will pack the huge arena on the fringe of Lake Michigan, but millions more will be tuned in on a national telecast and broadcast of the colorful classic which traditionally kicks off the grid season.

Dumont's network of 53 television stations, and 400 stations of the Mutual Broadcasting System will handle the game which starts at 7:30 p. m. Central standard time. WOV-TV will carry the game in the Lincoln area.

With a superb aerial attack and a crumpling ground offensive, the Rams are favored from one to two touchdowns to achieve the 11th pro win against six All-Star victories. Two games ended in ties.

But Coach Bobby Dodd, head All-Star boss, has mustered a 54-player collegiate squad that includes not only a horde of glittering offensive performers, but the defensive talent to slug it out in that part of the melee in which the pros usually are far superior, the play-bustin' department.

The Rams have a score to settle, having been whipped by the All-Stars, 16-0, in their only previous start against the college lads in 1946. Last year's game resulted in the Cleveland Browns, de-throned last season by the Rams as the NFL champions, administering a 33-0 drubbing to a badly outclassed All-Star team. The Collegians defensively know pretty much what their task will be Friday night—stopping the sharpshooting of Norm Van Brocklin and Bob Waterfield to Elroy Hirsch and Tom Fears, and the explosive line thrusts of Dan Towler.

Coach Joe Stydahar of the Rams, on the other hand, professes to be in the dark over what to expect from Dodd's T-formation attack which has the versatile Vic Janowicz of Ohio State as a key left half, and Ed Modzelewski of Maryland operating as No. 1 full-back.

At right half, Dodd probably will start 200-pound Hugh McElhenny of Washington. Vito Parrilli of Kentucky is tabbed to open at quarter-back for the All-Stars. Parrilli's pitching, along with that by two other ace signal-callers, Bill Wade of Vanderbilt and Darrell Crawford of Georgia Tech, could provide aerial firing works to match the sniping of Waterfield and Van Brocklin.

Ollie Matson, great Negro fullback from San Francisco, arrived too late from his 400-meter galloping in the Olympics to assimilate much offense, but he's a key defensive man in Dodd's plans.

IN line with our recent column on speeding up baseball (something the Lincoln A's have been co-operating with lately), how about doing away with that stereotype pre-game conference between umpires and managers? Umpire Myers: "Mr. Kissell, meet Mr. Bell. Kissell: "Hello, Les, seems like we've met before." Bell: "Yes, that's right. I recognized you when you came out of the dugout. How's the wife and kids? Kissell: "Fine, just fine." Myers: "We will play nine innings tonight." Bell: "That suits me fine." Kissell: "Me, too." Myers, pointing to leftfield: "That's the ball and strike scoreboard." Kissell: "We follow standard rules, don't we? A ball hit over the fence is a home run, isn't it?" Myers: "Yes, that's correct, and three strikes count as a strikeout and four balls as a walk." Kissell: "I presume the ground rules remain the same." Myers: "Yes, it's been the same at Sherman Field since 1947." Kissell: "How's the wife and daughter, Les?" Bell: "Fine, just fine." Myers: "Play ball!"

INNER DEFENSE—One of the strong features of the Lincoln Elks this year is their steady infield. The new State American Legion champions, who will represent Nebraska in a four-state regional

Long Hitters, Favorites Advance In City Tourney

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

THE favored sons and the long ball hitters rolled through the second round of the Lincoln City golf tourney at the Lincoln Country Club Thursday.

All was fairly serene during a day's firing that featured a single tight squeeze.

In that hair-liner, Ery Peterson, University of Nebraska golfer and a ranking favorite, needed all of the ingredients of a one-under-par 71 to slip by veteran Don Pegler, Sr.

Peterson, one of three medalists, now meets the tourney's No. 1 darkhorse, Slamin' Sam Spomer, in Friday's quarterfinals. Spomer, a Pioneer's entry, ousted the veteran Gene Chadwell, 4-3.

One of the other medalists, towering Bill Mowbray, Jr., faces Herman Rohrig, former football star, today in a battle of longball swatters. Mowbray defeated Dr. Tom Dworak, 3-2, and Rohrig hammered Emil Frank, 5-3, in second-round play.

Dale "Dude" Wisbey, Hillcrest belter, figured in the day's top upset. He edged Bill Murrell, who Wednesday had upset Medalist Bill Blyth, by 3-2. Wisbey now faces Harry McGinnis, former all-round Husker athlete and another powerful driver. Harry whipped Charley Odle, 4-3.

The polish of Whitey Reed's putter and irons will be pitted against Chick Battey's long game. Whitey dropped Don Pegler, Jr., by a surprisingly large 4-2 score while Battey was topping Dean Boling, 3-2.

All classes again go to the post Friday with the finals slated for the sixth flight. Starting times:

Perfect Ball Pitched By Midget Ace

Randolph Kept Off Base As Bergstrasser Wins

Midget League baseball fans—175 strong—were treated to a rare spectacle at Sherman Field Thursday night as "F" Street's Bill Bergstrasser accomplished what few pitchers in any league ever produce—a perfect ball game.

It was old fashioned baseball with tight pitching and brilliant fielding.

Bergstrasser showed the Randolph team why he had run up a string of 32 scoreless-innings during the regular season in the Western League as he got a 2 to 0 victory for "F" Street.

Bergstrasser, in seven innings, faced only 21 men, walked nobody, and struck out 15. His mates gave him great support, playing errorless ball. The result—not a single Randolph player reached first base.

"F" Street could do little better against George Arms who gave up only three hits.

They scored in the second inning on a disputed play that saw Gene Hruza advance all the way from second when Bergstrasser was called out for being hit by his own attempted bunt. The other "F" Street tally came in the fifth when Calen walked, stole second and scored on Cliff Hardesty's bingle into center.

Jim Cripe of Randolph supplied the game's defensive sparkler in the sixth when he picked up a crippled roller down the third base line, fired on the dead run to first, and got the runner by a step.

In "B" league action Havelock and Prescott battled for six innings before the Shopowners clinched it in the top of the seventh to win, 5 to 2.

Havelock drew first blood in the second inning, when McEntaffer singled, Grabowski walked and both scored on a long single by Frank Els.

Prescott came back in the sixth to knot the count. Stein started it when he walked. Dick Welch touched Rudy Stoehr for the first Prescott safety when he singled.

Spadt advanced them both with a fielder's choice, and then Lape rapped a hard single into right field that brought the two tallies home.

Havelock, not to be denied, used a hit, a walk, and three errors to plate three tallies in the top of the seventh to win.

Angling Angles

By Jim Clark

IT wasn't long after the Naval Club of Lincoln set five tagged channel catfish free in Oak Lake that the first one was pulled squirming to shore.

And 5-year-old Freddie Ness, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ness of 1309 No. 68th, earned this week's "Fisherman of the Week" award as well as a five dollar check from the Navy Club for his efforts.

Fishing in the company of his 11-year-old brother, Freddie snared his catch with a rod and reel. He was using worms for bait.

While not being very talkative himself, Freddie's father said that he "was crazy about fishing." The last time out, he pulled in a four and a half pound bass from Oak Lake. Freddie's fish was one that was stocked last week to help promote fishing interests in this area and also promote two donkey softball games being sponsored by the Navy Club.

In addition to the cash award, Freddie was given two tickets to the softball games.

FISHING in the Monroe area has been quite superb as of late, or at least in the opinion of Mr. Bob Ziegler. After four days of running lines in the canal near Monroe, Ziegler hauled in six catfish totaling an amazing 137 pounds.

The first day, Ziegler hooked a 22½ pounder, the second, a 17 pounder, the third day, a 22 and an 11 pound catfish and then on the last day a 41 and 23½ pound catfish.

The 41 pounder measured 43 inches in length and 27 inches in girth with a nine inch mouth spread.

Polio Cases May Break U.S. Record

Latest Figures Show
15 Per Cent Increase

WASHINGTON (INS)—The government Thursday reported that polio cases increased 15 per cent last week and figures show this year's outbreak is rivaling the record rate of 1949.

The U.S. Public Health Service listed 2,648 new "acute" cases for the week of Aug. 9. It said there was a "significant" polio increase in the Great Lakes region.

The 15 per cent rise brought the total number of persons stricken with the disease since the first of the year to 13,366. In the same period of 1949, when the all-time record of 42,000 cases occurred, there were 13,871 polio victims.

The number of cases in the five-state Great Lakes region increased from 535 to 755 last week. Heaviest hit were Illinois, where there was an increase from 140 to 212 polio reports, and Michigan, which rose from 159 to 225.

Indiana showed little change, but Ohio increased from 128 to 180 and Wisconsin from 68 to 98.

The Health Service said that in Iowa and Texas, where the disease was reported of epidemic proportions earlier in the summer, there was a decrease. The number of Texas cases fell from 244 to 192. In Iowa, the drop was from 276 to 200.

However, government experts warned that because the disease usually moves north into large Eastern and Midwestern industrial areas during late August and September, the seasonal peak of a nationwide basis will come in a week or two.

Canadian Guilty Following Trial In Korean Case

SEOUL (INS) — A Canadian private, originally accused of murdering an aged Korean woman, was sentenced to one to two years imprisonment Thursday on two reduced charges after a two-day military hearing.

Pvt. Kenneth Carleton of St. John, New Brunswick, was found guilty of improperly firing his weapon and of stealing a bottle of whiskey.

The murder charge was dropped on Aug. 5 after his companion Pvt. Clarence Leo Mowers of Silvery, Quebec, was found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the woman's death, and was sentenced to three years.

Actress Given Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Blonde film star Gloria Grahame obtained a divorce Thursday from director Nicholas Ray after testifying that she lost weight and her career suffered because he was sullen and morose during their marital life. The 25-year-old actress was awarded $300 a month for support of their son, Timothy, 3, and $70 a month toward his education.

Ike Rejects Huddle Plan Of Truman
Will Change Decision If Emergency Arises

DENVER (INS)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower Thursday spruned an invitation from President Truman to have lunch with his cabinet and get a White House briefing on the military and international situation.

The Republican presidential candidate wired President Truman that he doesn't think it would be wise for him to attend such a session in view of his duty to remain free to criticize the administration during the campaign.

The President's invitation was extended after Ike protested angrily when his Democratic opponent, Gov. Adlai Stevenson, lunched with the cabinet and was briefed on international developments by top national security officials.

Eisenhower accepted, however, an offer by Mr. Truman to send him confidential weekly reports from the Central Intelligence Agency to keep him abreast of the world situation.

But the Republican standard bearer said he wants it understood that accepting the reports will not in any way limit his right to give the American people the facts on the international situation, as long as they don't involve the nation's security.

The general's reply to Mr. Truman, in the form of a 300-word telegram, was the first official word that the invitation had been extended.

Truman Text Released
The White House later made public the text of the President's offer, telegraphed to Eisenhower Wednesday.

The President promised to have Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, give Ike a "complete briefing" on the foreign situation if the general would lunch with the cabinet next Tuesday.

He said Secretary of State Acheson and Gen. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, would also be present, as they were when Stevenson got his 20-minute fill-in on world affairs from the officials.

Eisenhower told Mr. Truman in declining the offer that he would "instantly change" his decision if a grave national emergency should develop. But he added: "There is nothing in my message to indicate that is presently the case."

Ike said he feels he should not have any private communication with the White House in view of his duty to "remain free to analyze publicly the policies and acts of the present administration whenever it appears to me to be proper and in the country's interest."

He declared: "Consequently, I think it would be unwise and result in confusion in the public mind, if I were to attend the meeting."

Mr. Truman noted pointedly in his invitation that Eisenhower could bring along his press secretary and any other members of his staff he wished.

HEAVY rains Wednesday night turned the Fair Grounds turf to mud Thursday and slowed action in the sixth day of the current Nebraska State Fair Grounds racing meet.

Despite the slow track, bettors showed $110,315 through mutual windows, and got back $96,768.30. The crowd was down 500 from the previous three days, as 4,000 went through the turnstiles.

One minor mishap occurred in the sixth race, Jockey Carl Miller, aboard Sis Francis, took a tiler as the pack went into the first turn. Miller was shaken up.

Sis Francis, riderless, finished ahead of the pack, but Well Wisher was the winner. Well Wisher paid $5.40, $3.60 and $2.80. Charles Guinup boosted his lead in the point standings to 14 points over his nearest competitor, Johnny Garrouette. Guinup rode two winners, a second and a third Thursday.

"I recommend AYDS"

says
Joan Bennett

How to Lose Weight and Look Leveler!

Now! Lose weight the way Nature intended you to! The Ayds Plan is a quick, easy way with no risk to health. When you take Ayds before meals as directed, you can eat what you want—all you want.

Users report losing up to ten pounds or more with their very first box. You will lose weight with your first box or money back ($2.98).

JOAN BENNETT SAYS: "The Ayds way is the really sensible way to reduce. I recommend it to any woman who wants to keep herself looking slim and youthful."

Tattered State License Plates Being Replaced

Worn and battered license plates on state-owned vehicles which carry no yearly replacement date are being replaced with a new plate with white on dark blue paint. The new plates like the old ones contain an outline of the Capitol as well as the number.

Owen J. Boyles, director of the Motor Vehicle Division, said the color was determined by old paint which the state had on hand and that the plates were expected to last three years.

Get Bigger TV Profit

NEW YORK (INS) — Main event fighters at Madison Square Garden are going to cut a bigger slice of the radio-TV melon.

International Boxing Club President Jim Norris announced that, beginning Sept. 5, each main-go battle on Friday night Garden shows will receive $3,600 from radio-TV receipts.

...the light Way to a Sleek, Lovely Figure

So light you scarcely know you're wearing 'em. Yet so firm in dealing with unruly curves! No heavy bones in Skippies. Nothing to pinch, poke or bind. Formfit tailors them its own special way, to give you a whisper of control, a world of freedom. Girdles and panties in your length—a variety of elastics and styles. All easy to wash—quick drying. Come get your Skippies in a wardrobe for every daytime and date-time need.

Other Girdles and Panties as low as 3.50
Skippies Foundations as low as 10.95

P. S. If Grandma's a slimmer, tell her she can wear Skippies, too. They're for "juniors" of all ages!
